QUESTIONNAIRE:

In order to ascertain whether you have a cooling-off right in terms of the Consumer Protection Act, 2008 (should it be applicable to your Lease Agreement), please complete this questionnaire.

How did you (the applicant) become aware of the Premises?

Tick appropriate box:

- (i) ☐ Website enquiry
- (ii) ☐ Approached PGP branch or telephoned PGP branch/agent
- (iii) ☐ Advertisement in print media
- (iv) ☐ Responded to "To Let" Boards

Notes:

1. To the extent that this application results in the conclusion of a Lease Agreement and you (the tenant) were made aware of the Premises via "direct marketing" then you will be entitled to exercise a cooling off right, if the Consumer Protection Act, 2008 is applicable to the lease agreement (further details of which will be set out in the Lease Agreement).
2. The concept "direct marketing" is defined in the Consumer Protection Act, 2008. PGP interprets direct marketing as a type of advertising (distinguished from general advertising) that seeks, without invitation or without initial contact from a person, to elicit a transaction or a response from such person, in response to a communication from or on behalf of PGP. The communication from the marketer may take several formats, including telemarketing, e-mail, pamphlets or flyers or a personal visit.
3. If you ticked any one of the boxes under items (i) to (iv) above, you will not be entitled to a cooling off right under the Consumer Protection Act, 2008 as these are not examples of "direct marketing".

I the undersigned, hereby warrant that the above information is correct, and that I have not applied for debt review, and am not currently under debt review.
